Can I get a refund if my tax extension is not approved?

Jared - 2020-07-20 - Tax Extensions

Once you e-File your extension, your information is sent to the IRS for approval. If you are not approved, a notification will be sent giving reason why the IRS rejected your tax extension application, and we will help to resolve your issue. You can resubmit your application as many times as necessary at no additional charge. However, we do not provide a refund once the application is processed.